DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 4-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 5946062 A.

Per claim 1, 062 teaches a liquid crystal display device comprising: a liquid crystal display panel having one or more wires on a substrate thereof [see wires DMg on the panel substrate shown in figure 9]; and a housing having holding portions configured to hold opposing end portions of the liquid crystal display panel [see SHD, specifically the vertical side portion and the holes in the vertical side portions], wherein a spacing between a portion of an outermost wire of the one or more wires which is located in the vicinity of the holding portion and a portion of an edge of the substrate which is located in the vicinity of the holding portion is larger than a spacing between a portion of the outermost wire which is other than the portion located in the vicinity of the holding portion and a portion of the edge of the substrate which is other than the portion located in the vicinity of the holding portion [see figure 19, the wires bend to the left of the figure, at any point past the bending point of the wire, the wire is closer to the left edge of the substrate than the same wire at a point near the bottom of the substrate].

Per claim 4, 062 teaches the liquid crystal display device according to claim 1, wherein a non-display region is formed on a peripheral portion of the liquid crystal display panel, and the outermost wire is provided on the non-display region to extend substantially along an end portion of the liquid crystal display panel [see figure 19, the wire are on the periphery].

Per claim 5-6, 062 teaches the liquid crystal display device according to claim 1, wherein the housing is made of metal [see column three, last full paragraph].

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-3 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
